FIA restrained from taking action against LUH official

By Our Staff Correspondent

HYDERABAD: A division bench of the Sindh High Court (SHC) Hyderabad circuit on Monday restrained the Federal Investigation Agency (FIA) from taking any action against Dr Aftab Phull, an official formerly posted at the Liaquat University Hospital (LUH).

The FIA had given a call up notice to Dr Phull for Nov 17 in a probe into alleged corruption in the procurement process of the hospital.

Comprising Justice Adnanul Karim Memon and Justice Riazat Ali Sahar, the bench also summoned FIA Deputy Director Wasiullah Bhatti, who had issued the call up notice to petitioner Dr Phull.

The bench, however, linked its restraining order to the furnishing of Rs500,000 surety bond by the petitioner.

The petitioner, who was represented by Irshad Jatoi, said that one of the respondents in the case, Sarmad Sattar Leghari, had filed a direct complaint (25/2025) before the special judge Anti-Corruption (Central) Hyderabad, alleging that he and the co-accused, had embezzled Rs947.5 million during his posting in the LUH.

He said that being a provincial subject in fact, it was the domain of the Sindh government and had no connection with the federal government. He said in the special judge's Oct 18 order, he took cognizance without realising that he lacked jurisdiction to entertain a direct complaint.

The petitioner maintained that the respondent FIA deputy director issued a notice on Nov 4 to the MS of the LUH despite the fact that he lacked jurisdiction.

He prayed the court to declare initiation of the probe by the FIA against him as barred under FIA Act 1974 and such notice should be set aside.

According to respondent Sarmad Sattar, he also appeared before court on Monday and would file objections on the petition on the next date of hearing.

The notice to the petitioner by the special judge was issued on an application of Sarmad Sattar Leghari on Oct 18 and subsequently the FIA deputy director asked the LUH medical superintendent to appear in person before him on Nov 10, along with certain record relating to the LUH's procurement for 2023-2024. The notice said embezzlement had taken place in LUH's procurement by a respondent LUH official, Dr Aftab Phull.

LUH MS Ali Akbar Dahiri on Sunday confirmed having received Nov 4 notice. He told Dawn that three medical superintendents who served during the period in question — Dr Shahid Islam Junejo, Dr Aijaz Abbasi and Dr Muneer Shaikh — had been informed by him to appear before the FIA.

The applicant cited Aftab Phull, additional dispensary superintendent (ADS in BS-17), then LUH MS, director finance, Ashfaq Hussain Shah, store incharge, and Anees, tender clerk of the LUH, as respondents. He said offences by the accused attracted provisions of Anti-Money Laundering Act 2010, Foreign Exchange Resolution Act 1947 and Immigration Ordinance 1979.

He accused Aftab Hussain of committing corruption and money laundering in 2023-2024 in procurement of medicines, consumables and machinery.

Man's death takes dengue toll in Sindh to 27; 1,000 more test positive

By Faiza Ilyas

KARACHI: Over 1,000 patients tested positive for dengue fever on Monday across the province that saw another death from the mosquito-borne viral infection, raising the official tally to 27 since October this year.

According to the provincial health department's data, the latest mortality occurred at Liaquat University, Hospital, Hyderabad, where the victim — a 30-year-old male resident of Noorani Basti — had remained under treatment for a week.

A day earlier, a teenage girl died of dengue fever at Karachi's Sindh Infectious Diseases Hospital and Research Centre (SIDH&RC).

Official data show that thousands of people in the province are currently ill with flu-like symptoms; out of the total 7,548 patients tested for dengue fever over the last 24 hours, 1,212 patients tested positive.

In Karachi division, 765 patients tested positive for dengue out of the 6,166 patients tested for the illness. In Hyderabad, 447 patients tested positive out of the total 1,382 tested.

This month, the provincial dengue tally has risen to 7,173 while cumulative cases this year have reached 12,750.

Currently, 257 and 176 patients are being treated for the illness at public and private hospitals, respectively.

Given the persisting public health crisis, health experts have called upon the government to immediately declare a health emergency in the most affected divisions of Karachi and Hyderabad, and launch effective vector-control measures.

They also called for an independent audit of the provincial dengue prevention and control programme and for oversight of municipal services to identify and hold accountable the officials responsible for the worsening situation.

Dengue (break-bone fever) is a viral infection caused by the dengue virus (DENV), which is transmitted to humans through the bite of infected mosquitoes. Symptoms are usually flu-like condition but can worsen to severe dengue (dengue hemorrhagic fever), a life-threatening condition. Getting infected a second time increases risk of serious symptoms.

During the first to five days of fever, an infected person can transmit the virus to mosquitoes, which can then infect others.

According to the WHO, several factors are associated with the increasing risk of spread of the dengue epidemic, including the changing distribution of the responsible vectors; climate change leading to increasing temperatures, high rainfall and humidity; fragile and overburdened health systems; limitations in surveillance and reporting; and political and financial instabilities in countries facing complex humanitarian crises and high population movements.

Govt mulls reduction in e-challan amount amid uproar over hefty fines stated: "The fine structure has been designed keeping in view deterrence and road safety, rather than revenue generation. It is important to note that traffic fines are not an unavoidable burden — they are avoidable by choice. Citizens who drive responsibly, follow signals, and respect laws will never incur penalties. The purpose is to promote a culture of compliance, discipline, and safety on Karachi's roads."

A senior provincial government official and the ruling PPP leader told Dawn on condition of anonymity that while the CM had already announced that "first-time" violators of traffic rules could have their fines waived within 10 days by submitting an apology in person, there was a strong possibility that the government would announce a significant reduction in the fine amount on certain violations by the end of this month.

He, however, made it clear that the system would not be rolled back or even suspended. Instead, he said, this system would soon cover entire Karachi and other districts of the province.

Hardship to registered owners who sold their vehicles

At present, registered vehicle owners face a distressing situation if they receive a challan for a vehicle they once owned but that has been sold to someone who has failed to have it transferred in their name.

In such cases, the previous owner is compelled to run from pillar to post, submitting documents and giving explanations to the excise and police authorities to prove that they no longer own the vehicle.

Likewise, the registered owner of a vehicle also suffers in the form of "demerit points" when a challan is issued for a violation, regardless of whether he or she was actually driving at the time.

The owner must bring the person who committed the violation before the relevant traffic office, after which the challan is reissued in the offender's name.

The IGP explained that as per the Motor Vehicle Ordinance, the registered owner of a vehicle is legally responsible for its use until the ownership is officially transferred.

He said: "If a vehicle has been sold but not transferred, it remains in the name of the previous owner in the Excise record. Therefore, Tracs issues tickets against the registered owner, as recorded in the official database.

"In all the cases where a ticket is issued to a previous owner who has already sold the vehicle, the matter will be resolved at any Sahulat Centre [11 Traffic Facilitation Centres established across the city to assist citizens and address any complaints or issues related to e-ticketing].

The previous owner only needs to provide a proof of sale along with a letter from the Excise and Taxation Department confirming the transfer or sale. Upon verification, the e-ticket will be cancelled immediately," he added.

Regarding the vehicle, the police chief said it would be blacklisted in the Tracs database. "Whenever it is detected through the Safe City camera network, it will be detained by the Excise Department and will not be released until the current possessor formally transfers ownership in their name."

In cases where demerit points are assigned to a vehicle owner who was not driving at the time of violation, the IGP stated that the owner "simply needs to visit any Sahulat Centre along with the actual driver and provide the necessary explanation. After due inquiry and verification, the demerit points will be removed from the owner's driving licence and transferred to the driver responsible for the violation".

Impunity for vehicles

While law-abiding citizens become easy targets under the faceless e-ticketing system as they are being charged for merely switching lanes on roads like Sharae Faisal and I.I. Chundrigar Road, those driving vehicles with 'AFR' (Applied for Registration) plates or without number plates altogether are continue to do so with greater impunity as the system is not equipped to identify such vehicles to take action.

When asked about vehicles without number plates or AFR number plates, IGP Memon told Dawn that the Tracs identifies vehicles solely through their number plates. "Therefore, vehicles without number plates or bearing AFR markings cannot be issued automatic e-tickets, as the system relies on plate recognition for identification."

He, however, claimed enforcement action is taken on the ground against such vehicles. "All vehicles found without proper registration plates are impounded on the spot and handed over to the Excise and Taxation Department. Excise teams accompany police during these operations, and legal action is initiated against violators in accordance with the law," he stated.
